GEN. WU PEI-FU TO CALL NATIONAL CONFERENCE

SOVIET 'NOT DELIGHTED' WITH GENOA DECISIONS

Failure To Gain Recognition Disappoints

WANTED A LOAN

France To Stand With Belgium; Hayashi's Views

(China Press Service)

Genoa, May 4.—The Soviet plenipotentiaries say that they are "not delighted" with the memorandum's project for Russian reconstruction and are displeased with the document because it does not mention recognising Russia and ignores the suggestion of government loans.

Paris, May 4.—It is officially announced that France agrees with Belgium in her policy toward the Soviet and that M. Barthou returns to Genoa with the full approval and confidence of the government.

(Reuter's Service)

Genoa, May 4.—Baron Hayashi when interviewed by Reuter's special correspondent, said that he was greatly impressed by what the Conference had already accomplished. It had practically done its work, he said, and it only remained for Russia to give her answer.

If she did not agree it was useless continuing the discussion.

The Soviet Government knew that England was the only country from where it was likely to get ready money and in the event of a changed Russian regime no Russian Government could ever complain that the Allies had no shown great moderation.

Paris, May 4.—The Cabinet has decided to adhere to the non-aggression pact, with the reservation that France's rights under the Treaty of Versailles are expressly recognised and guaranteed. France also insists on certain detail modifications.

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, April 23.—Trosky has issued the following message to the Soviet army and the fleet:

"An international conference has opened, in which the representatives of the workmen's and peasants' Russia are negotiating with representatives of the foreign states about the conditions of re-establishing peaceful business, particularly regular trade relations. The head of the Soviet delegation, Chicherin, at the first session proposed to all the states a general disarmament.

"The representatives of France immediately protested against the proposal, declaring that in case it should be brought up for discussion, the French delegation would leave the conference. What does the proposal of the Soviet delegation mean? It means that we sincerely long for peace and are ready to disarm when those who have attacked us will disarm simultaneously."

Trotsky enjoined the Soviet soldiers and sailors to stand on guard of the Republic, which has not yet obtained the opportunity of engaging in peaceful constructive work and cannot until its armed enemies show a spirit of helpfulness rather than agression, he said.

GIRL OF TODAY IS WISER THAN SAVANT OF 1800

(Reuter's Service)

Hot Springs (Ark.), April 21.—The horizon of an intelligent girl of eighteen to days is wider than that of the savant of 1800, Mrs. Robert C. Speer of New York City, President of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association, said in presenting the report of the board to the national convention of the association here today.

"Girls are beset with complex interests; a Pandora's box of new emotions and experiences fills the air with thrills and stings for them. The sense of adventure, of 'something lost beyond the ranges, something calling for us,' summons them out of the old highroad of custom. Unless they are led aright there may be weary years of wanderings in the wilderness.

"There could be no greater challenge. We are interpreters of life for young women. The negative of Sinai no longer has power with a world where curiosity has displaced fear. Our place is not with the tables of stone, but with the followers of the Master who sat on a hillock in Galilee and told the listening crowd where the satisfactions of life are to be found.

"In addition to the fact that it has grown up since 1914, in years when older men and women were pre-occupied with an attempt to save civilisation, this generation is the first to feel the impact of many new forces in the world's life. The camera and the illustrated paper have brought the world to the girl's door. The morning paper brings her the world's politics and scandal. The movie, with its crude lights and lines, tends to destroy the fine edge of imagination, or would if God had not made resilience one of the attributes of youth. Modern science pours into the lap of young people great stores of treasure, along with the alloy; why should they not want to try everything, and explore all the avenues of life?

COUNCIL FOR ALL CHINA IS DISCUSSED AT CONFERENCE

General Purpose Is To Further Work Of C. C. C.

OLDHAM SPEAKER

Twenty-Eight Churches Hosts To Delegates Today

The entire day in yesterday's meeting of the National Christian Conference was given over to a presentation of ideas for the suggested National Christian Council.

The impressions of the day formed a study in Christian statesmanship beginning with a clear presentation of a plan for a clearing house organisation by Rev. C. G. Sparham and Mr. T. Z. Koo, through several hours of ordered but spirited discussion by people from all parts of the floor and ending with an evening address by the Rev. J. H. Oldham, of the National Christian Council, who viewed the proposals in the light of experiences in other lands. The theme was carried by orderly progression through the entire day.

A commission has been at work for many months preparing a plan for the new organisation which is to succeed the China Continuation Committee. It was proposed yesterday that the various denominations or other units represented at the Conference meet on the next day or so and elect representatives in proportion to their members which shall form a nucleus of this council in case the plan goes through.

TO AID SELF-GOVERNMENT

The council is for the purpose of promoting self-government, self-support and propagation among all the Christian churches of China for fostering a spirit of union and co-operation; for keeping up to date the "Missionary Survey" which has just been completed and which was characterised yesterday by Mr. Sparham as "the finest survey ever made in the world;" to train leadership for Christian work in China and to co-ordinate Christian work here with that in other lands.

"A wise nationalism," said Mr. Sparham in this connection, "must find its place in a wise internationalism."

As the discussion progressed throughout the day it became evident that there must be the most careful steering between the need to form an organisation able to meet national issues and the danger of making that organisation something less than thoroughly democratic and Chinese. That there are great national issues upon which the church must speak as a whole was the most appealing argument for the formation of some such plan.

COUNCIL ALL CHINESE?

While the unanimous desire of the Conference seemed to be for some form of council, it was felt that whatever may result from these ten days will, in the nature of things, be only provisional until the various Christian organisations can meet and elect their own representatives directly. This adjustment, however, was of secondary importance to the most significant proposal brought out during the day that the entire personnel of the council should be Chinese, with possibly an advisory board of missionaries. This would involve a radical change in the whole character of Christian work in China but again and again the speakers of the day challenged the spirit of faith and daring in the great group sitting there in session in whose hands this momentous decision lies.

DESIRE INDEPENDENCE

The outstanding impression of all yesterday's sessions, which were the first in which there was full opportunity for discussion from the floor, was the superb quality of spirit and leadership shown on the part of the Chinese delegates. The natural oratorical ability of the Chinese itself has made the Conference full of interest but back of this, as was made apparent yesterday, lay the greater fact of tremendous conviction and desire upon the part of the Chinese people to swing free from the fostering care of the

THOMAS MILLARD HERE, PLANS STAY OF TWO MONTHS

Former Editor of China Press And Far Eastern Expert Back For Visit

Mr. Thomas F. Millard, former Editor of THE CHINA PRESS, authority on Far Eastern questions, and recently advisor to the Chinese Government at the Versailles Conference, at sessions of the League of Nations, and at the Disarmament Conference at Washington, is in Shanghai and intends to be in China for the coming two months.

Mr. Millard says that his present visit to China is a stop-gap in his plans for the coming year. As the United States did not participate Mr. Millard did not go to the Genoa Conference. He will be in Shanghai perhaps a week or two and after visiting Peking he will return to America in August and then sail for Europe to attend the coming session of the League of Nations.

Mr. Millard said it is quite certain that another important international conference will be called, probably by the United States, in the coming winter to deal with the question of inter-allied indebtedness.

He mentioned that he has been engaged in writing a new book on later phases of Far Eastern questions and this will be published during the coming fall.

CHIHLI LEADER REGARDS WAR OVER, NOW AIMS AT RECONSTRUCTION

Defeat Of Chang Tso-lin Apparently Sufficiently Complete To Eliminate Him As Factor In Government, At Least Temporarily

SOLDIERS FLEE NORTH IN DISORDER

All Reports Confirm Utter Rout Of Mukden Armies, Although Japanese Legation Is Skeptical; Chinese See Dawn Of Better Era

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 5....Gen. Wu asserts that he does not intend to interfere in politics beyond carrying out his original intention to call a National Conference with the object of electing a representative parliament to deal with national problems such as the disbandment of troops, finance and the election of a representative President and Cabinet.

BY JOSEF W. HALL
(Staff Correspondent The China Press)

Peking, May 5 (6:30 p.m.)—At noon today General Wu Pei-fu went from Changhsinfien to Fengtai and at 3 o'clock proceeded southward to Hwangtsunchen, where the disorganised Fengtien rabble has been pouring down the railroad tracks in such numbers as to obstruct the running of trains.

It is expected that Chow Tse-chi will be relieved of the Acting Premiership today, but President Hsu stated that he may retain the post until the calling of a national assembly.

Under orders that have been issued by General Wu Peking banks controlled by Liang Shih-yi and Chang Tso-lin are being forced to provide money to send the defeated soldiery to their homes.

Peking is once more at ease after the bombardment of Chang Tso-lin propaganda and his defeat and telegrams from all provinces indicate that the entire country is sweeping to Wu Pei-fu.

Communications have been reopened on the Peking Hankow Railway and the Peking-Pukow line will probably be reopened within another week.

The Japanese Legation still refuses to believe that Chang Tso-lin has been utterly defeated.

BY BERT L. KUHN
(Staff Correspondent The China Press)

Tientsin, May 5 (4:55 p.m.)—Trainloads of Fengtien troops, retreating from Machang are passing through Tientsin. Chang Tso-lin is returning to Chunliangcheng and the entire general staff is reported in flight.

No disorder has attended the movement of the troops but Tientsin is apprehensive.

The railroad yards are choked with long trains of troops, the soldiers jammed 200 to the car and it is estimated that 8,000 already have passed on their way to Chunliangcheng. Ten thousand more are in the yards here.

The retreating troops are disheartened and those from the Northern sector say they have been fighting three days at Fengtai and Langfang without food or sleep and are anxious to return to Mukden.

The defeated troops are still heavily armed, but they are well disciplined and have manifested no tendency for looting or disorder. Tientsin authorities are guarding the railroad yards and are refusing to permit any of the soldiers to leave the railway stations. The troops made a wild rush this afternoon when bread was distributed and they made eloquent pleas for water. A few of them are wounded and all of them are dead tired.

No attempt is being made to maintain any semblance of train schedules or to operate trains for ordinary traffic. Northward toward Fengtien the military forces are in complete control of the line.

An extra guard of 150 American Marines are to arrive here tomorrow from the American cruiser Huron, flagship of the Asiatic Fleet.

BY BERT L. KUHN
(Staff Correspondent The China Press)

Peking, May 5 (11 a.m.)—The Fengtien army suffered a crushing defeat yesterday, the Chihli forces, by brilliant tactics, pushing through to the railroad station at Fengtai, thereby cutting the Peking-Tientsin railway. At the same time vigorous attacks were made at Changsintien and Machang in which the Chihli forces were uniformly successful.

Unless Chang Tso-lin can re-establish full control of the Peking-Tientsin railroad the situation will soon become desperate for him, as his forces in the neighborhood of Peking will be cut off from the others, and from their lines of supply. The railway service between Peking and Tientsin is demoralised, troops trains blocking the line. It is reported here that Chang left in a special train for Tientsin, and that he is hiding in the foreign concession. This, however, is not generally credited.

It is thought the Mukden general has gone to his old headquarters to take up the reorganisation of his scattered and defeated army. Telephone reports received here tell of fighting near the race course. All the city gates are closed.

BY JOSEF W. HALL

(Staff Correspondent The China Press)

Peking, May 5 (11 a.m.)—The main body of Fengtien troops are retreating down the Peking-Mukden railroad while Wu's men are consolidating the positions won in yesterday's victory. Wu does not intend to press his victory at present, but to consolidate his lines and reorganise his troops with a view to making his next blow a death wound for Chang. The Peking Gendarmerie are now taking instructions from Wu's staff. The Fengtien headquarters in Peking have been abandoned and the officials are in hiding.

BY BERT L. KUHN

(Staff Correspondent The China Press)

Tientsin, May 5.—It is reported here that Wu Pei-fu has announced his intention to enter Peking tomorrow. In the meantime the Fengtien forces are in full retreat through Tientsin.

American troops are guarding the Standard Oil Company's properties here and at the seaport and a close watch is being maintained at the railroad stations.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tientsin, May 5.—All reports confirm the complete rout of General Chang Tso-lin's right army yesterday. It is doubtful where a stand will be made. General Chang Tso-lin returned to Chunlianchen yesterday evening.

Five trainloads of defeated soldiers from Fengtai arrived at Tientsin Central station late last night causing considerable apprehension both amongst Chinese and foreigners. French reinforcements were sent to the station. The trains remained in the station during the night owing to the complete disorganisation of the railway but no looting or disorder is reported.

The U.S.S. Huron arrived at Taku yesterday evening and 150 marines from her are expected in Tientsin this morning.

The Chihli forces are also persistently claiming a victory at Machang and state that an encircling movement is proceeding in the direction of Tongku with the object of cutting off all the Fengtien forces but there is no confirmation of this report available here.

(China Press Service)

Tientsin, May 5.—Chang Tso-lin is believed to be a refugee in the French Concession here. According to reports from Peking, the headquarters used by the Chang Tso-lin general staff have been closed.

The Peking-Mukden line has been interrupted and reports received here this morning state that the railway has been cut by Chihli troops.

Wu Pei-fu's enveloping movement has been successful and this city is apprehensive, fearing damage if Wu continues his march on Peking.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 5.—It is impossible as yet to estimate the total number of Fengtien soldiers captured at Changsintien. The Chihli casualties for the 24 hours preceding the fall of Changsintien are said to be 1,200, while the Fengtien casualties are estimated at 2,000, of whom those only slightly wounded have entrained.

The Fengtien troops who were going to Suiyuan consisted of the 16th Division, formerly stationed at Chahar. As General Ma Fu-hsiang, a Chihli adherent, is preparing a hot reception at Suiyuan, they will probably detrain at Kalgan.

A Chihli Brigade has reached Huangtsun, thoroughly tired out. A continuous stream of Fengtien soldiers, probably from the middle front, is going east on foot, along the Peking-Mukden Railway, between Laofa and Tientsin.

General Chang Tso-lin visited Laofa yesterday morning and left Chungliangcheng on a North-bound train this evening. His destination is not known, but it is generally believed that he is going to Mukden.

Two Chinese gunboats from Chefoo passed Shankaikuan today, signalling that they intended to cut the Fengtien railway communications.

Peking, May 5.—The most remarkable feature of the conflict is the humane treatment of prisoners and the very courteous attitude of both armies towards foreigners, who have everywhere been treated with a consideration they would not be likely to receive anywhere else from contending armies. Not a single instance has so far been reported of a menace to foreign lives or interference with foreign property, although thousands of defeated soldiers have streamed through Paomachang, where many foreign families have disobeyed their Legations' orders to re-enter Peking.

Cordial relations exist between the President and General Wu Pei-fu. The latter's representative is in military control of Peking. Adequate measures are being taken to relieve the distress of war sufferers. General Wu does not intend to enter the city until his war task is completed, when some changes in the Cabinet may be expected. Meanwhile, the Government machinery is working smoothly. The conviction is general among Chinese at Peking that a constructive period is approaching.

Tientsin, May 5.—Hitherto only four troop-trains have passed Tientsin East for Chungliangchen, but they were all absolutely packed with troops. The soldiers were apparently cheerful, saying that they were on their way home. They made no attempt at looting.

Chinese and foreign pickets were at Yang-i-teh East Station this morning to prevent any attempt at leaving the station and to see that orders were carried out.

General Chang Tso-lin's forces have reached Laofa in utter rout. Firing is said to be occurring indiscriminately there.

Tientsin, May 5.—General Chang Tso-lin left Chungliangchen in the direction of Shanhaikuan this morning.

The Fengtien troops are retreating in a most disorderly manner on horse and foot from Laofa to Tientsin. At five o'clock this evening, the British Volunteers were ordered to mobilise. The Chinese are most apprehensive.

Notes On The Situation

A section of the Peking-Mukden Railway near Changsingtien was demolished by the bombing of two Chihli airplanes.

The hospitals in Tientsin are crowded with injured troops from the front.

Hsu Lan-chow, division commander of the Chihli Army, has been seriously injured.

Chang Tso-lin is reported to have offered $500,000 for the head of General Wu Pei-fu.

All the gates of Peking were closed on Thursday following the defeat of the Fengtien Army to present stragglers from entering the capital.

Mr. E. L. Bennett, Assistant medical officer of the British Legation, who was injured about the face by shrapnel while he was watching the operations at Changsingtien is reported to be in serious condition. He was observing the warfare in Liangshan with field glasses when the shrapnel hit him. He was rushed back to Peking and taken to the Legation Hospital.

General Wu Pei-fu has informed the Ministry of Communications that he has garnished the sum of $3,387,000 from the revenue of the Peking-Hankow Railway for military expenses up to the end of April. He added that he has received nothing else from the Central Government for the last half year.

Four teams of first aid corps have been organised by the Red Cross in Peking and despatched to Lukouchiao, Nanyuan, Fengtai and Langfang. Four more are to be organised if needed.

General Wu has addressed an appeal to the Diplomatic Corps to allow him 24 hours within which to rid the Peking-Mukden line of all Fengtien stragglers. No response has yet been made by the Corps.

Chang Tso-lin's Son Captured, Report

An official communique received by Tuchun Chi Shih-yuan of Kiangsu from Peking states that Chang Hsueh-liang, the son of Chang Tso-lin, is missing while Brigadier-General Kuo Sung-ling of the Fengtien Army was severely injured at the battle of Shengfang and Singan.

More than a hundred Fengtien officers were made prisoners of war in the engagement on the Eastern sector. Five field guns, nine machine guns and a large quantity of aammunition were also captured.

Five Anniversaries During First Ten Days Of This Month

Yesterday was the first anniversary of the inaugural of Dr. Sun Yat-sen as President of the Southern Republic. The Republican Daily News, Dr. Sun's organ in Shanghai, published a special edition in pink. Several local organisations sympathetic with the Southern cause, sent telegrams to the Southern executive.

There are five more or less national memorial days in China during the first ten days in May. May 1 is Labor Day; May 4 is the anniversary date of the student movement in Peking which developed into an anti-Japanese boycott movement in 1919; May 7 and May 9 are both "humiliation days" because of Japan's ultimatum in connection with the 21 Demands.

FOR REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

No woman who has any sense of beauty will deny that superfluous hair is one of the greatest drawbacks to good looks.

Realising this, women of all times have put themselves to any expense, and have endured considerable pain and discomfort in order to rid themselves of this great disfigurement.

Nowadays electrolysis is a prevalent "cure" for this evil, but in reality this process involves a great deal of unnecessary expense, waste of time and pain.

The simplest quickest, and most effective treatment can easily be carried out by any sufferer, in the privacy of her home. This is the recipe:

Procure about 1 oz. powdered phesmiol from your chemist; mix a sufficient quantity with a few drops of water into a stiff paste. Apply this carefuly and thoroughly to the hair you wish to remove, and allow the paste to dry. In a few minutes it can be gently scraped away. The skin is left absolutely free from hair, and should then be carefully washed in warm water, and if desired, lightly dusted with a little talcum powder. (Advt.)

Council For All China Discussed At Conference

There was much interest evidence in the suggestion brought up by Mr. D. E. Hoste and Miss Ruth Paxson as to the need of a doctrinal statement to be incorporated in the constitution of the new council. Here again, however, there was a strong turning to the Chinese delegates to settle this question themselves. Dr. R. K. Evans lifted the Conference in a great challenge when speaking, as it were, for the missionaries, he suggested that it make to the Chinese present the following bona fide offer: "If you believe that it is best that from the first the National Christian Council should be limited in its voting membership to Chinese Christian tell us so, and we will withdraw: moreover if you believe that you need at this time a theological statement as a part of the constitution of this council, you are the ones to decide that also."

There was evident throughout the entire day a spirit of generous readiness to listen to different points of view, of willingness on the part of the mission forces to decrease that the Chinese church might increase, and a gallant independence on the part of the leaders of the new Chinese church, so much so that the day was felt to be a red letter one in the Conference calendar.

ONE SESSION TODAY

Today's program will be limited to a morning session at which will be presented the report of Commission III, "The Message of the Christian Church." This is awaited with the keenest of interest as this Commission was composed entirely of Chinese and should bring the finest Oriental interpretation of Christianity to the Conference.

This afternoon there will be a reception to all the delegates at the Olympic Theater given by twenty-eight of the churches of Shanghai.

It is hoped that this afternoon not only the delegates but many of the general public as well, will take the opportunity of visiting the exhibit which is being conducted by some fifteen organisations at the Ningpo Guild, 4 Tibet Road. Photographs, charts, books and moving pictures are shown at this exhibit in attractive booths

REV. OLDHAM SPEAKS

Following is the address delivered before the Conference last night by Mr. J. H. Oldham, executive of the International Missionary Council, London, and editor of the International Review of Missions, who spoke on "The National Christian Council Viewed in the Light of Experience in Other Lands:"

"The world Missionary Conference held in Edinburgh in 1910 appointed a Continuation Committee which has since become merged in the International Missionary Council on which all the leading mission boards in North America, Great Britain, the Continent of Europe, Australia and South Africa, as well as the national missionary organisations of Japan, China and India are represented. For twelve years I have been secretary of this international missionary organisation. During that time we have honestly tried to face in thought the real difficulties of co-operation, and to devote our energies not to ambitious schemes which look well on paper, but to making a really practical contribution to the advancement of Christ's cause in the world. We have learned a good many lessons. We have at least gained some experience in regard to what ought not to be done, and in regard to lines of action which lead nowhere and involve a sheer waste of valuable time and money, and others which, if pursued, can only lead to disaster.

DIFFICULTY ONLY BEGINNING

"I am not one of those who think that missionary co-operation has an assured future. I believe that its real difficulties are only now beginning to be faced.

"During the past Winter I have been in India spending four months in almost continuous conference with Indian Christians and missionaries in regard to problems relating to the future of Christianity in that country. The Christian movement in India, Burma and Ceylon is organised in nine provincial councils of missions, as well as the National Missionary Council. I met in either two or three days conference eight out of nine of the provincial councils as well as with the National Missionary Council, and in addition to these twenty-four full days of conference I had numerous personal conversations with Indian Christians, missionaries and leaders of the national movement in India.

INDIAN EXPERIENCE

"In these conferences we were engaged chiefly with the same question with which this Conference is concerned—the formation of a National Christian Council.

"The question there as here was beset with enormous difficulties. The Metropolitan of India, who is chairman of the National Missionary Council, writing of what took place at its last meeting, summed up the deepest impression left on the minds of all who were present when he said what was done was the result more of prayer than of argument. I believe that the same thing will be said of this conference if any true and enduring result emerges from its deliberations.

"Any contribution I can make to this Conference will lie in my putting at your disposal for what it is worth any experience I have gained in missionary co-operation in the West and in the discussions which took place in India. But as time is very limited, instead of telling you about the International Missionary Council and the decisions reached in India, where I should have to supply a lot of background to make things clear, I shall go straight to the problem you are facing in this Conference and try to shed what light I can on it from the experiences to which I have referred.

"The first thing to be said about the National Christian Council is that if it is to succeed it must be national, that is to say Chinese in its genius, outlook and expression. On that point there is I believe universal agreement and it has already been strongly emphasised in this Conference. I wish only to state two reasons why anyone like myself who comes from outside China should refer to it at all.

WHAT PEOPLE THINK

"The first is that the necessity for the Council if it is to succeed, being Chinese in its genius and expression is as apparent from my angle as secretary of an international missionary organisation as it is from yours in China. I could hardly have remained in my present office unless I had some capacity for knowing what people in different countries really think—not what they are polite enough to say, but what they really think.

"Now if you allow me to offer for your consideration the best answer which after a great deal of thinking I can find to the question, 'When does Christianity become truly national in its expression?' I would say in a sentence, when the main direction and control of the Christian movement is in the hands of the people of the country—when they make the decisions. They may borrow what they like from other peoples, but in China or in other countries when the decisions are taken by Chinese the movement will be Chinese in its expression. So long as we foreigners take decisions we shall put a foreign stamp on it. We can't do anything else. When Chinese take the decisions they will put a Chinese stamp on it. We cannot do anything else.

CHINESE SHOULD QUESTION

"And if you will allow me to press the matter one stage further, it is necessary if Christianity is to be national in expression not only that the answers to questions should be given by Chinese but that the Chinese should themselves ask the questions. There is no phrase I think that I have heard more frequently since I reached China than the question whether through this Conference the Chinese are really going to get under the load. That question it seems to me makes an enormous and, if I may venture to say so, unjustifiable assumption, namely that our bundle of wares is a load the Chinese wish to carry. I am confident that it would not be possible for my friends in Scotland to carry out successfully a program drawn up and handed to them by my friends in America, and I am nearly as sure that Americans as a whole would find it equally difficult to adopt and carry out a policy framed by the Scottish mind. And therefore I cannot believe that the Chinese are likely to be satisfied with or to work successfully something that foreigners have created.

"My reason for referring to these matters is that the formation at the present time of a National Christian Council which shall be truly Chinese in genius and expression, notwithstanding the fact that we all assent to it, does not seem to me a simple but an enormously difficult task.

WHAT OF HOME BOARDS?

"My second reason for dwelling on this matter is that some of the Chinese brethren in this Conference may perhaps be saying to themselves 'We have realised in this Conference the sympathies of our missionary friends with our desire for an indigenous Christianity, but will the boards in the West allow them to take action in the direction they desire? Where do the home boards stand in this matter?' Well, I must frankly admit that many members of the home boards who have never been to China do not realise the situation to which we are alive in this Conference. 'But I hold in my hand a minute of the meeting of the International Missionary Council held a few months ago, at which all the larger missionary societies of North America, Great Britain and the Continent of Europe were represented—except the German societies who we hope may be with us at the next meeting—and that very representative body, after more than two full days debate passed a minute which includes the following sentence:

"'It has been brought home to the Council in an extended discussion that, notwithstanding all the efforts that have been made to carry out the aim of foreign missions, namely the establishment of an indigenous church, the Christian movement in a large part of the mission field, and in particular in India and China, labors under a serious disadvantage because of the foreign character which it bears in the eyes of the people—a disadvantage which can be overcome only in the degree that the main leadership and direction of the Christian movement passes into native hands.'

WEST REALISES

"I think that minute should be an assurance that those at any rate who are responsible for the administration of the missionary societies in the West are beginning at least to appreciate the issues which have been before us in this Conference.

"A second vital question on which the Conference will need to make up its mind is the character of the Council which it proposes to set up. Is it to be a body strictly advisory in character and taking executive action only when it has reason to believe that such action is desired by the churches and missions it represents? The constitution of the International Missionary Council begins with a statement that it is established on the basis that the only bodies entitled to determine policy are the churches and missions, and the draft constitution for the National Missionary Council in India contains a similar provision. Now you are quite entitled to ask whether it is possible to do anything worth while under those limitations. Time allows me to say in answer to that question, having worked under those limitations now for twelve years, my experience is that you can get all sorts of important things done, and got them done in what I believe to be the best and highest way, namely not by doing them for people, still less by telling them to do things, but by bringing about a common mind which makes people want to have the things done and do them themselves.

MEANING OF COUNCIL

"Since I reached China I have heard the statement made several times that this is the first Council of the Chinese Church. I think it is very important that you clear up your minds as to what you mean by a statement of that kind.

"I know I should carry more life insurance, but I can't afford it."

"THE less it seems to you that you can afford life insurance, the greater is your need for it. If you had more money today than is actually the case, the more you would have to leave to your family. But the only way open to you to create at once the estate you need which might take years to accumulate in any other way, is by means of life insurance. Don't you realize that you really can't afford to be without it? If you think you can't afford to set aside any of your earnings now, how do you expect your wife and children to do without all?"

Dr. Sun Pardons Strike Leader

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, May 5.—Chan Ping-sang, ex-president of the Seamen's Union, who was sentenced to 12 years' imprisonment at Canton for the murder of his wife, has been pardoned and liberated by Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

A crowd of laborers, who had gathered outside the prison gate, cheered the Labor leader upon his emerging from the gaol.

Commenting on Chan's liberation, the Hongkong Daily Press states, in the course of an editorial article: "Most people will read with amazement the news that Dr. Sun Yat-sen has granted a free pardon to Chan Ping-sang. The murder was a particularly cold-blooded one. The release of the murderer from the punishment imposed by the Court reflects no credit either on the Executive or the people who rejoice in this act of incredible leniency, unequalled since Barabbas escaped crucifixion."

The South China Morning Post states: "Nothing will justify such a scandalous precedent in the eyes of thinking and genuinely patriotic Chinese, who will see in it not only a handle for China's external enemies, but a highly dangerous expedient, likely to threaten the authority of all civil law."

Prince Of Wales Sees Nara Shrines

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Nara, May 5.—During his visit to the Daibutsu or Hall of Great Buddah at Nara today, the Prince of Wales was shown one of the great supporting columns, more than five feet thick, through which runs an anakuguri or creeping hole. The tradition is that anybody getting through this very narrow orifice without a hitch will surely ascend to Paradise. The Prince of Wales removed his coat and crept through unaided. The attendant priests were visibly delighted. Members of the Prince of Wales' staff who tried to pass through had to be either pushed through or pulled out again.

This morning His Royal Highness visited more shrines, including the Shoro Shrine, in which hangs the biggest bell in Japan. It was cast in A. D. 732 and weighs 40 tons.

This afternoon the Prince of Wales left for Osaka and Kobe.

Tokio, May 5.—The Prince of Wales today visited Osaka and Kobe.

Folks Drive Trouble Tandem In Peaceful Little Country Town

BY "BUGS" BAER

There is a little town in Nova Scotia, shaded by tall, dignified shadows cast by hungry wolves. It basks in the sunshine of forest fires and claims to be the toughest town in the world.

The town has no name because everybody is afraid to mention it.

It must be tough, but Roughntown brooks no rival cities. Just as soon as a baby is born in this mysterious town the folks throw it into a cage and lock the door.

Must be pretty rough burg where dynamite is a desert and where they put mistletoe on their blackjacks.

But the town of Wuffle, Arizona, is no Xmas toy either. The main street is a path worn smooth by mountain lions. When a farmer wants to plow his fields he pushes a long-clawed puma around by the ears.

Courting your best girl is equivalent to putting a fresh coat of paint on your life insurance papers. You ask her old man for his daughter and he answers you in code. Everybody carries a double-barrelled cannon. If he shoots you once that means no. If he shoots for twice that means yes.

Trouble is that he has to shoot no before he can shoot yes, so that even if he likes you, he has to kill you first before you know that he is your friend.

Whenever anybody is invited to a strawberry festival or a spelling bee, he always takes a pleasure car and an ambulance along. The limousine is to drive up in and the ambulance is used exclusively for driving away.

So you can see that life isn't all a fug of roses, even outside of Roughtown.

Eddie O'Dowd Is After Johnny Buff's Crown

"Well," says Eddie O'Dowd, "bring on Johnny Buff, and I'll knock him for a row of brick houses. He ain't no champion! I'm that!" Whereupon a group of fistiana fans in Eddie's home town of Columbus, Ohio, made up a pool of $20,000 and have offered it to Buff to meet their favorite. O'Dowd has engaged in fifty-three scraps. He won eighteen by knockouts, thirty by decisions, and four were draws. His only defeat was at the hands of the man from whom he now seeks to take the bantam crown.

B.W.A. To Shoot For New Trophy

The novel competition arranged by the Shanghai Scottish at their annual rifle meet last year, when prizes were offered for good shots among the women, has resulted in strong interest in this branch of sport among British women in Shanghai.

Mrs. Campbell, wife of the Captain of the Shanghai Scottish, has offered a trophy to be competed for by members of the British Women's Association which has already gone in for shooting in its Sports Section.

The prize offered will be a perpetual challenge trophy which cannot be won outright, but miniatures of which will be presented to winners in the shoot. The first shoot will be the second day of the Shanghai Scottish meeting, Sunday, June 4.

NEW BASEBALL GUIDE AND RULE BOOK ARRIVES

Spalding's Official Baseball Guide for 1922, edited as usual by John B. Foster, which has just arrived in Shanghai, is contemporaneous with spring and the advent of baseball for a new season. It is replete with current history of the national game and, as it does every year, features the rules. The explanations of the rules, which have been made solely for the Guide by its editor, are revised and here and there have been clarified even better than they were for the benefit of the beginner and the boy. It has stated that the Spalding Official Guide is the one publication that makes the rules so clear that a boy of twelve cannot fail to grasp their meaning.

The rule manual is separate and may be detached from the Guide proper without the slightest injury to either. That is a Spalding Guide innovation. The rule book can be carried in the pocket without any difficulty. One major league umpire says a rule book never leaves the coat pocket of his uniform except as he wishes to refer someone to it for confirmation of a rule.

The rule book also contains the "Knotty Problems" that have become one of the big chapters in the literature of baseball. Their connection with the rules is so manifest that beginners who seek information find the uniting of both convenient and also interesting to study. Last year the editor of the Guide received requests for information regarding the "Knotty Problems" of baseball from countries all over the world, and from every state of the Union.

The 1922 Guide contains a complete review of the season of the National League with its dashing finish in 1921. It contains the account of the American League race, stories as to how pennants were won in the minor leagues and a story of the world series of last year with each game described play by play. For reference in the future that is a feature which is invaluable to the fan.

The editor of the Guide has addressed a request to its readers to make known their preference for the departments of the game, whether they are more fond of batting, fielding or pitching. It is through this medium that it is possible to get more accurate information as to possible changes in the rules than from any other source.

The editorial comment deals with specific topics of interest which arose out of the season of 1921. There is a special article which has to do with a new home run standard for distance. Ruth created it by a hit in Detroit.

Not only is the Guide of 1922 an annual of history in baseball, but it is also an album of historical illustration. It is filled with reproductions of photographs of important plays in the world series and in major league games, with reproductions of the most famous ball players in action, with photographs of winning clubs and with illustrations of men who were prominent in baseball during the year in some way.

One chapter is devoted to baseball in foreign lands, including a report of the American game in China.

Baseball Club To Play Fast Japanese Nine At Race Course Tomorrow

Announces Games With Am'n School For Tuesday, Nanking Saturday

Manager Gallop of the Shanghai Baseball Club has signed up three games for the coming week, as an opener for the season. One at least of the three should be a good one, that a week from today with the Language School nine from Nanking; the other two promise good training for the local team.

The schedule so far arranged follows:

Tomorrow, 2:30 p.m., Shanghai vs. the Jessfielders (Japanese).

Tuesday, 5 p.m., Shanghai vs. American School.

Saturday, 3 p.m., Shanghai vs. Nanking.

The Jessfielders are said to be a fast team of Japanese ex-college players, gathered together from various local hongs into a high class organisation. They have been on the field this spring more than the big Shanghai nine and are said to be in good condition. They are expected to give Gallop's gang a thorough workout.

The game with the American School on Tuesday will be another good practice for the match with Nanking. The school boys, though outclassed by Shanghai's best nine have a lot of ability and a lot of baseball courage. They will keep the older men, especially the rookies up on their toes while they are playing.

A big gang of workmen will be busy on the ball field at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning erecting the stands and the club dressing rooms. All of the equipment has been gotten ready to move to the grounds on the conclusion of the Spring Race meeting, and the work will be pushed along as much as possible, in the hope of having the stands ready for the Tuesday's game, but with a certainty of being in place by Saturday.

Gen. Wu's Victory Proves That He Is A Great Strategist

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 4.—Having lulled the enemy into a sense of false security by putting into the firing line poor Honan troops, while concentrating his own efficient troops in readiness to strike smashing blows, General Wu Pei-fu has again demonstrated his rare powers of leadership.

During the past few days General Wu Pei-fu's most faithful friends in Peking and Tientsin have been most disconsolate, fearing that the preponderance of the Fengtien artillery and machine guns was proving the deciding factor in the fighting. Everywhere the Fengtien troops appeared to have the advantage, meeting and defeating half-hearted Chihli attacks and showing elation and declaring that General Wu Pei-fu did not merit his great reputation.

Yesterday they essayed an attack, the results of which confirmed their optimistic beliefs, but yesterday evening General Wu, personally conducting the operations sent five hundred Chihli troops round the Fengtien right flank at Changsintien.

As they advanced, the scouts of the defenders attacked and dispersed these five hundred men, capturing half of them.

Night was then setting in and General Wu launched a heavy frontal attack which concentrated the defenders attention on their front. Meanwhile, 4,000 Chihli troops, following the 500 with whom they had been in communication through connecting files, quietly took up positions nearly in the rear of the Fengtien army.

At daylight the flanking force of Chihli troops endeavored to reach the Marco Polo Bridge from which they cut off the defenders. Here heavy fighting occurred while a night-long attack from the front was pressed.

The Fengtien forces quickly recognised the different material of the attackers and by seven o'clock General Chang Ching-hui ordered a retreat. Most of the defenders crossed the bridge and reached Fengtai whence eight trainloads left quickly for Tientsin and ten trainloads for Sulyuan.

By nine o'clock the Chihli troops had completely occupied Changsintien, the defenders abandoning all guns, munitions and supplies. The retreating forces kept up a rearguard action without guns in the direction of Fengtai under cover of which a third of the defenders entrained.

General Chang Ching-hui, the Fengtien Commander-in-Chief, left Fengtai by special train at ten o'clock, arriving at Tientsin by eleven.

Three neutral divisions are disarming groups who, finding the city gates closed, are lying exhausted outside.

General Wu Pei-fu has telegraphed to the French chief engineer of the Peking-Hankow line, asking him to proceed to Changsintien for a conference with regard to the restoration of traffic to Hankow.

The populace is feverishly delighted with the Chihli victory as well as with the removal of the war menace from the vicinity of the city, which was threatened with early famine.

Reports of victories of the Chihli armies at Machang and along the Hunho continue to arrive, indicating a smashing victory along the whole line, but these are not yet officially confirmed, telegraphic and telephonic communications are congested.

The condition of Mr. Bennett, of the British Legation, who was wounded in the fighting, is more serious.

Later:—General Wu Pei-fu states that General Feng Yu-hsiang remained throughout the battle, at Chengchow (Honan) with 25,000 troops watching the rear. General Wang Chean-ping, the brilliant Manchu commander, and General Wu's ablest general, is commanding in the region of Machang.

The Fengtien debacle in the vicinity of Peking is absolutely complete and thousands of the defeated soldiers are being disarmed round the city.

General Wu Pei-fu intends to push on to the East and join up with General Wang Chen-ping.

EVEN HERE!

The endless-chain-of-letters curse has come to China, according to a report in the Chinese press.

A shopkeeper in Tatung Road, Chapei, received a card, the report states, with no signature and bearing the following and a prayer:

"We pray you to copy the present card and send nine copies to your parents and friends so they may be able to avert danger, otherwise you will certainly meet with misfortune when the earth has made nine revolutions. This method was devised by the daughter of a former American president named Tafoute (Taft?). Do not scorn it."

Each of the nine recipients are enjoined to repeat the process.

A notable feature of the meeting was the presence of three members of the class of 1882: Dr. Gilbert Reid, Dr. W. Mills, and Dr. J. N. Hayes. The next class represented was that of 1902, twenty years later, with Brownell Gage (Yale, Changsha) and Dr. H. K. Wright present. 'Face Pidgin' Plea Is Of No Avail In British Court

W. Brodie, boatswain on the steamer Plassey who was charged with having disobeyed orders of the ship's first officer, admitted the offense yesterday before Magistrate G. W. King in the British Police Court, but in extenuation he asserted that the work he was told to do was of a kind that would have made him the laughing stock of the ship.

The first officer, Mr. C. E. Short, had testified that he had ordered the boatswain to lash life boats on two occasions and met with refusal because the boatswain declared the work should be done by a seaman and was beneath his rank. Magistrate King held that the charge had been proved and the boatswain was fined six days pay.

Plan Mass Meeting To Inaugurate Drive For Redemption Fund

A mass meeting for the inauguration of the movement for the redemption of th Shantung Railway by popular subscription will be held either at the Shanghai Chinese Barracks or the Public Recreation Grounds in Nantao on May 13 at 1 p.m. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Students' Union in Shanghai and will be followed by a parade throughout the Chinese city. Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese Minister to the Court of St. James and Dr. C. T. Wang, Director-General of the Retrocession of Shantung, are expected to speak.

The request for the use of the grounds was made by Dr. David Z. T. Yui, chairman of the movement, to General Ho Feng-lin, local Defense Commissioner. Dr. Yui stated that the aim of the demonstration was to inspire public interest in the raising of the necessary funds for the redemption and that none but bona fide students will participate in the parade. Boy Scouts of the various schools in Shanghai will maintain the order of the procession.

Mother Makes Plea For Accused Son

The plea of a Chinese mother that she had been sick and in need of money gained a week's remand in the Mixed Court yesterday for a messenger boy charged with embezzling $165 from Messrs. Andersen, Meyer and Co. The money was alleged to have been stolen from cash sale receipts which the messenger should have taken from one department to another. The mother told the Court that her son was her sole support and promised to try and make good the loss if given a week's time.

Start Hearing Case In Which Detective Is Accused Of Assault

The case in which a Municipal Chinese detective and a hawker are charged with assaulting four men at the Elgin Road market on April 7, following which many of the dealers at the market went on strike, was up for hearing before Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Kwan in the Mixed Court yesterday.

Dr. Fischer appeared for the prosecution and Mr. J. Em. Lemiere for the defence. Evidence was given by Sung Sung-zai, keeper of a fish stall at the market, that a woman had called at the stall on the date in question and asked the price of a fish. He had told her 30 cents. She then picked up another fish and offered him 20 cents for the two. When he refused she went away, saying that he would not be able to keep his stall at the market—a stall which he had managed for 16 or 17 years. Later the detective and the other defendant, with others, came and beat him and his relatives. Similar testimony was given by the other complainants and other witnesses and Dr. Fischer intimated that he would call still more witnesses to prove the assault. The case was adjourned.

Cloth Exhibition To Be Held Here

An exhibition and sale of cloth made by the Industrial Department of the Songdo Higher Common School, Songdo, Korea, is now taking place at Squires, Bingham Company's store, 17A Nanking Road, to Friday May 12. Mr. C. H. Deal, who is in charge of the industrial department of the Songdo School is here and will be in charge.

The School is under supervision of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and educates more than 1,500 boys, many of whom are unable to pay for their own schooling, and it is these boys who make the cloth, giving half of the day to study and half time to work. The industrial plant in which the cloth is made is modernly equipped with the latest American machinery, including a steam turbine directly connected with electric generator and individual motor drive on each machine.

The cloth, which is called "Korea Mission Cloth" is famous throughout the Far East for its fastness and durability. It is made of the finest cotton in existence, of a double twisted yarn like sewing thread, is mercerised, which increases its strength about twenty-five percent, and is dyed with the fastest of dyes. In fact it is made on what Mr. Deal calls a "Character Basis," that is as good as it can be made regardless of cost of materials and labor. The school has recently installed a new plant with many times the capacity of the old one producing a better quality goods in more varied patterns.

Mr. C. W. Beswick Made President Of Lancastrians

New officers of the Association of Lancastrians chosen at the annual meeting of the organisation on Thursday are as follows;

President, Mr. C. W. Beswick; Vice-President, Mr. R. Grimshaw; Secretary, Mr. S. R. Kerr; Treasurer, Mr. L. A. Harrap; Committee, Messrs. C. S. Speyer, H. Holgate, H. W. P. McMeekin, E. G. Barnes, W. N. Scott and H. W. Pilcher.

The members stood while passing resolutions of condolence on the deaths of Sir Everard Fraser, K.C.M.G. and Mr. E. B. Broadrick, two members who have died during the year. It was directed that resolutions be sent to families of the deceased.

The Chairman called attention, in commenting on the accounts, to the big sum still outstanding, for due subscriptions.

The report and accounts were then adopted.

A revival of cricket and the summer gathering of the association was appealed for and the general wish expressed that the Lawn Bowls party should be held again.

During the meeting the hope was also expressed that more social functions, including the annual dinner on the birthday of the Duke of Lancaster, could be held this year.

Hebrew Association Reduces Committee

The Young Men's Hebrew Association held an extraordinary general meeting of members on Thursday, at 5:30 p.m. in the new spacious premises on the top floor of No. 10a Kiukiang Road. The meeting was largely attended, and was called for the purpose of amending the byelaws so as to allow a reduction in the number of the Committee from thirteen to seven. Mr. Moise Ezra occupied the chair, and after the secretary had read the notice convening the meeting, he addressed the gathering.

In his capacity of acting President, he said, he had found committee of thirteen to be both cumbersome and unnecessary. Larger institutions were being managed by a committee of seven, in some instances by five only, and no useful purpose whatsoever was served by having this very large number. He, therefore, proposed the reduction of the number of the Committee to seven, the balloting number of nine to remain unchanged. Mr. Wienberg seconded the resolution which was passed with but 2 dissentient votes. Mr. Ezra then tendered the resignation en bloc of the present committee, stating that he had no doubt the members would agree with him that the management of a club which was growing rapidly could not be left in the hands of inexperienced people.

There were nine applicants for the seven vacancies and after a very close ballot the following gentlemen were elected to serve for the balance of the year 1922:

Messrs. S. E. Shahmoon, S. Sudka, E. H. Shibbeth, J. B. Katz, S. H. Levy, S. Moosa, D. Arakie.

Several other questions were raised, and the meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman and to Mr. S. H. Levy for his unwearied efforts on behalf of the club.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association's premises at present included a large reception room capable of holding about 250 people, a billiard room with 2 tables, bar room, reading room, card rooms, etc., all fitted out in most modern style.

Japanese Give Aid To Bandits, Charge

(China Press Correspondence)

Tsinan, May 3.—The Japanese have withdrawn their soldiers from Tsinan to Nukuk'ou, within the leased territory, and have turned the policing of the railway between these two points over to the Chinese. Although they have done this, the Japanese authorities in Tsintao permit a situation which makes it possible for bandits to operate from the leased territory as a base.

About ten days ago a member of the military staff of Shantung went to Tsingtao to investigate conditions. He found that Chang Tseng-ch'ang, a captain in the Chinese army and an Anfuite, who is living in Tsingtao, is in regular and constant communication with bandits operating outside of the leased territory. He is the real leader and director of the bandits' operations.

These bandits, according to the investigator, come into Tsingtao, disguised as merchants, where they consult with Captain Chang. The rendezvous of these marauders is Shihchiatao, near the boundary of the leased territory, which the Chinese authorities allege is within the leased territory, while the Japanese say that it is not within their jurisdiction, with the result that these bandits terrorise the surrounding country.

When this staff officer called the attention of the Japanese military authorities to this state of affairs, the Japanese kindly sent two armed guards to accompany, protect and watch him, which protection made impossible any further investigation.

The provincial authorities of Shantung allege that Captain Chang has an understanding with Chang Tso-lin that, in case the Mukden warlord defeats Wu Pei-fu, the Tsingtao Chang is to become Military Governor of Shantung. In view of these facts many think that a decisive defeat of Wu Pei-fu would enable Japan to show her hand more openly in the affairs of Shantung.

Japan To Refine Oil From Mexico

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, April 28.—The Japan-Mexican Oil Company has been established by Mr. Goro Matsukata with a capital of ten million yen, one-fourth of which is paid up. The new concern expects to import kerosene oil to the annual amount of two million koku for which an agreement has been made with the Mexican International Oil Company. The oil will be refined and supplied to the Government and Korea and Manchuria, from a new factory at Chinghai Bay.

Indian Rebel Gets Two Years In Jail

(Reuter's Service)

Ahmedabad, May 4.—The judge has refused to accept the native jury's verdict of not-guilty in the case of Hazrat Mohani, who headed the movement for separation from the Empire at the Moslem congress.

He sentenced Hazrat to two years vigorous imprisonment for a sedition. The charge against him of inciting to wage war was referred to the High Court.

Asia Banking Corporation

May 5, 1922

Spot bar silver was up 1s. 4d. and forward 3s. 8d. in London yesterday. The New York price advanced to 69⅝ cents, and the London-New York cross rate to 444¼.

The official Sterling rate here this morning was raised to 3s. 5d., the Gold Dollar rate to 75¾, the Yen rate dropped to 63, and the other rates changed in proportion.

Our market throughout the day was steady to firm, business in Sterling being done at 3s. 5⅛d. for May-June deliveries, and 3s. 6d. for forward. Gold Dollars were done at 78 for May-June and 77¾ for forward.

Speculators were buyers, rather than sellers today, and as there were few bills offering, the market had a slightly easier tone than yesterday. However, the undertone was firm.

America was a buyer of silver in London yesterday, and the market there, as well as in New York, is reported as firm.

Hankow Market

The British Chamber of Commerce at Hankow write as follows in their weekly circular dated Hankow, April 29:

FINANCE

Bar silver rose from 33⅝d. ready and forward to 37⅞d. on 10th instant and dropped after various fluctuations to 34½ ready and 34⅝d. forward. T.T. advanced from 3s. 4d. to 3s. 6¼d on 20th instant following the advance in silver but dropped back again to 3s. 5⅝d. but with sellers up to 3s. 6d. 4 m-s. credits were placed at 3s. 6⅜d. on 19th instant, 3s. 8d. on 20th instant and gradually declined to buyers at 3s. 7¼d. on 26th inst. Chinese market rates: Shanghai Tls. 97.4. Local currency $70.5. Native interest 15 percent after being 8 percent. A fair amount of inter-bank business was done on Shanghai at T.T. 97.35.

EXPORTS

Moderate purchases of wood oil, egg products and hides were made during the week under review and there appears to be a slight improvement in the demand from home markets for these products. Business in other lines remains dull, and prices for all produce on the firm side.

IMPORTS

Piece Goods:—Owing to the continued uncertainty of the political situation business is very dull. There is practically no enquiry and clearances are poor.

Yarn:—No enquiry, and clearances bad.

Messrs. A. J. Wattle and Company have received the following telegram from Messrs. Barker and Company, London dated May 3.

Average Spot price Standard quality First Crepe 8½d.

Market steady.

Singapore Rubber Auctions

Singapore, April 20, 1922

The London market has shown similar fluctuations to those of the previous week, receding to 8½d. after having touched 8⅞d. New York is this morning reported at 15¾ cents after having been quoted up to 16½ cents on Monday, April 17. The local market has been rather above the parity of the consuming markets, and business has been difficult owing to scarcity of sellers.

The local weekly auction was postponed until today owing to the Easter holidays.

There was a very good demand with a steady tone throughout the sale owing to "shorts" covering, and prices show for the various grade of sheet a slight advance on the week, whereas the prices paid for crepes are practically unchanged.

The total quantity catalogued for sale were 648 tons, of which 534 tons were offered and 448 tons sold.

Awarded Standard Ribbed Smoked Sheet sold readily, fetching 28 cents, which is ½ cent up on the week.

Sheet equal to Standard met with a keen competition at prices showing an advance of ⅛ cent.

Off Quality Sheets found ready buyers.

Only a few lots of Awarded Standard 1st Latex Crepe were catalogued, and no sales of grade took place.

Brown, Dark and Barky Crepes were, as usual, shown a great amount of interest.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in their exchange circular for week ending Wednesday:

Exchange:—The London price of silver at 35d. shows an advance of ½d. since this day last week, which is reported to be due to Indian buying. Our T.T. rate on London remains unchanged at 3s. 4½d., with business doing at 1⅛d. above this rate. The market throughout the week has ruled steady, but apart from speculative operations, business continues on a very small scale. A fair amount of Franc paper has been placed during the last few days, but with this exception, exports remain quiet.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 27,490,000, a decrease of Tls. 1,070,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $37,610,000, an increase of $470,000.

Estimated value Tls. 54,569,000 as against Tls. 66,000,000 held this time last year.

What Wu Pei-fu's Triumph Means

THE momentous struggle for the mastery of China between Wu Pei-fu and Chang Tso-lin seems to be drawing to a close. The end, if it is the end, has come suddenly, dramatically. Victory rests with the arms and banners of Wu Pei-fu's resolute, disciplined and well-directed legions.

With the prestige and confidence born of two brilliant and successful campaigns, and fighting over their home territory, they have fallen upon Chang Tso-lin's invaders, front and flank, and put them to rout.

The flower of Chang Tso-lin's fine fighting force, well-trained and well-equipped, has been crushed. Part of it has been killed, part captured: the rest is dispersed or in flight. The redoubtable Chang himself is either a refugee in the foreign concession of Tientsin or is fleeing from the scene of the debacle, towards his Manchurian stronghold, Mukden, leaving the remnant of his broken army to extricate itself as best it can.

And now what? Wu Pei-fu has again demonstrated that he has the best army in China and that it is commanded, with himself at its head, by determined and resourceful generals, who are, as things military measure in China, strategists and tacticians of merit capable of carrying out maneuvers over a wide and difficult terrain and at the crucial moment of delivering smashing blows.

On the news of yesterday and this morning it is evident that there is no army in China capable of withstanding, much less defeating, Wu Pei-fu and his army. Assuredly there is nothing left up North, no conceivable combination, that need give him pause or worry. If Chang Tso-lin makes good his escape, which he probably will, and once more finds himself safe in his Mukden stronghold, he may be expected to stay there, and there is no other man or force to take his place in opposition to Wu Pei-fu in his plan for the unification and reconstruction of China.

In the great central valley fronting upon the Yangtsze, Wu Pei-fu has only staunch supporters, if we except Tuchun Lu of Chekiang and General Ho, Defense Commissioner of the Shanghai District, whose forces, however formidable, are, owing to their location and the difficulties of transport, of negligible value in this crisis. They cannot move.

In the south, we again encounter the tragedy of Dr. Sun Yat-sen and his worthy supporters. Maneuvered and cajoled out of the legitimate spoils of his victory in 1911 when he drove the Manchus from power, Dr. Sun, finding Yuan Shih-kai neglectful of his promises, tried another revolution, in 1913—a short-lived failure. In 1915 his followers led by the ill-fated Tsai Ao, got momentary encouragement when they prevented Yuan Shih-kai from putting on the crown and founding a new dynasty.

But Li Yuan-hung, the honest and sincere successor to Yuan Shih-kai, together with his cabinet and Parliament, was soon driven from Peking by the Anfu clique. And when Dr. Sun reached an agreement with Marshal Tuan, the Premier and his Anfuites, it proved offensive to the Chihli Party, headed by Tsao Kun and his able lieutenant, Wu Pei-fu. The latter with his good army was at that time stationed below Changsha, between the Northern and Southern forces, maintaining the armistice.

The Chihli-ites were so enraged by this deal that General Wu pulled out and started north. Marshal Tuan knew why he was heading north but either he couldn't stop him or felt himself strong enough to crush him when he got near enough. Certainly Tuan had plenty of warning and all the time he needed. But, in a brief and decisive battle, Wu-Pei-fu routed the Anfu army.

Chang Tso-lin then intervened and being too strong for Wu at that time, usurped the power, and grabbed the spoils Wu had won, That was in 1920. Last year, saw Wu marching south again, to impose his authority which in his thought was being undermined in Hunan. This accomplished, he began his preparations for the inevitable decision with Chang Tso-lin.

Here again interposes the ill-omened fate of Dr. Sun. As between Wu Pei-fu and Chang Tso-lin, Dr. Sun elected to support Chang. Why he did this we do not know. Probably Chang promised that after crushing Wu Pei-fu he would retire to Mukden and let at least part of Dr. Sun's party back into power in Peking. We cannot believe that Dr. Sun made any great concessions, though we do believe that a Chang Tso-lin victory would not have turned out to the advantage of the Komingtang which is Dr. Sun's party. Chang, we are inclined to believe, would have restored the young Emperor, or failing that, would have founded a new dynasty with himself on the Heavenly Throne.

But the organiser and commander of the Southern (Dr. Sun's) army happened to be General Chen Chiung-ming, a friend and hearty supporter of Wu Pei-fu. They were constantly in communication with each other through trustworthy lieutenants The original idea, that is going back to just before Wu's 1922 Hunan expedition, was that the Southern forces would unite with Wu's to smash Chang Tso-lin once and for all and thus bring about a united China. But when the deal with Chang became known to General Chen Chiung-ming, the latter jumped out of the traces and the southern party and its army were suddenly thrown into a state of chaos, with the result that all their plans are at present "in the air."

So that the immediately ensuing situation is, if Wu drives home his initial success to eventual complete victory, that Wu Pei-fu is top dog at last, with enough power to enforce peace in every part of this stricken country. If now, he will but resist the temptation which assails and in the end drags down all conquerors, and will adopt a moderate, progressive and reconstructive program, with "malice toward none," his victory and his career will be emblazoned for all time upon the banners of The New China that is being born, and in the hearts of his countrymen he will be enshrined as their saviour forevermore.

Disadvantages Of Upright Posture

The disadvantages of upright posture of humans is the theme of Dr. Harry Campbell in the Lancet (London). He writes:

It is interesting to find that charwomen seem actually to enjoy the all-four position adopted in scrubbing the floor, and I am told that young girls in cookery schools delight in the same occupation; they sometimes actually spill water as an excuse to going on all-fours to wipe it up.

In considering the influence of the upright position on the circulation, it is necessary to distinguish clearly between standing, walking and running. Standing is less favorable to the circulation than the later two, inasmuch as rhythmical muscular contractions are an important aid to the circulation; and in this connection it is worthy of note that under natural conditions man spends little of his time in standing still; he either moves about or lies down. Such considerations emphasise the fact, universally admitted, that it is bad for humans—whether school children, shop assstants, cooks or what not—to remain standing for any length of time; and they further point to the advantage of reclining after the Oriental fashion over sitting down. Many women derive great benefit from lying down an hour or so during the day.

Conference Discusses National Church Council

A church council may mean a body that exerts some kind of authority over the bodies that constitute it Do you propose to get up a body of that kind?

"I quite understand how to my Chinese friends the denominational divisions which have been introduced from the West are intolerable and I sympathise unreservedly with their desire to get rid of them. I only wish to ask you to consider with extreme care what means you are going to take to get rid of them. I perhaps can most easily make my meaning clear by a simple illustration. A razor is a good thing, and a saw is a good thing. But if you try to use a razor for sawing wood you will not make much progress, and you will destroy your razor. Now I hope the Chinese outfit is going to include both a razor and saw, but I suggest that unless you are quite clear which instrument you are using and for what purpose you are using it things will certainly go all wrong. Leaving my illustration, what I mean is this:

"You have here in China as a matter of actual fact a large number of churches and missions all of whom have authority to make decisions in their own sphere. Now you may get some or all of those bodies to surrender part or the whole of the authority which they now exercise to some new central body, and that body will then be a Chinese Church Council in the full sense. But till they do agree to do that you must not trench on matters which fall within their spnere of authority without their full and deliberate assent. You must remain in the advisory sphere and know all the time that your sphere is advisory.

"Now, as I have said, I hope that China may soon have a Church Council in the fuller sense. But that is something entirely different from an advisory body, and any attempt to confuse the two things, or to do through the one what can only be done through the other, means that you will miss your aim just as surely as if you try to saw wood with a razor. As I understand all that you propose to do here is to create an advisory body as the China Continuation was, and the only difference is that the Chinese churches will have a larger say in the appointment of that body and that it will concern itself more in the future with questions which interest the Chinese churches as distinct from the problems of the missions. That is admittedly a limitation, but if you have a clear idea of what the instrument is that you are using and of what it can and what it cannot do, I believe that you can in a few years make immense advances along these lines.

"My next two points are concerned with the question of what the National Christian Council is going to do. That is a question on which the people in India have done a lot of hard thinking in the last few months and they have reached fairly definite conclusions as to the results they want. Broadly speaking they want to achieve two things.

"The first I can perhaps best make clear by starting from a simple illustration. Imagine a small group of people who meet to find fresh light on some subject in which they are interested. There are two conditions of success for the common thinking of that group. The first is that each member of the group should make his own contribution. He must not withhold it out of deference to the opinions of others, nor must he yield or compromise it until he has discovered some higher truth which includes what he has already seen. That is the first condition.

"The second is that every member of the group should be firmly convinced that the group as a whole can see further and better than he sees himself. He will therefore confidently expect to come away from the meeting of the group seeing things differently from what he saw when he came. The last thing that he will want will be to impose his ideas by the force of his will or the art of persuasion on the others. That, so far as he is concerned, would be not success but failure, for he would remain the same man that he was before. He would have learned nothing, he would have gained nothing.

"Now if these two conditions are fulfilled, if each member of the group makes his own independent contribution, and at the same time expects to find that contribution enriched and enlarged by the contribution of others, then in the meeting of the group something takes place, a new thing is born. The group as a group sees something which no single member of it had seen before. And what the group sees has become the common possession of each member.

"There are two things I want to say about this doing things together and getting to know and understand one another in the doing of them. The first is that we are only at the beginning of discovering what it may mean to us. The members of the China Continuation Committee, as Bishop Roots told us two days ago, know something of what it is. But in China it seems to me that you need somehow to develop more of those international and interdenominational contacts in regional or provincial areas so that a larger number of Chinese and of missionaries can get the advantage of it.

"And the second point is this. In proportion as we succeed in obtaining what we are speaking of, the gain to the Christian movement is immeasurable. We look askance at any large budget for this work. But provided we really do get the thing we are speaking of—and I admit this is a very necessary and important qualification—we have a spiritual gain that cannot be measured in terms of money.

"The second large object which a body like the National Christian Council may achieve is that it makes it possible for the churches and missions to deal with those larger issues which are the vital concern of each but which, just because they are large, are beyond the power of each to deal with independently by itself. Please note carefully what we are speaking about. We are not speaking about questions which lie outside the direct interest of churches and missions and with which they may or may not concern themselves. We are talking of matters which vitally affect but which are so big that they cannot deal with them alone. No one can doubt that there are such questions confronting the Christian movement today. I do not stay to ennumerate them.

"Have we made adequate provision for dealing with such questions? I should like to tell you the impression make on me by my study of the Christian movement in India and the little I have seen of the Christian movement in China. It is that in the conduct of the Christian movement we have plenty of tactics and very little strategy. In military operations a clear distinction is drawn between tactics and strategy. Tactics have to do with a single part of the front or a single operation. Strategy with the campaign as whole. The successful issue of a war, as we have all realised in late years, depends on strategy. In the conduct of the missionary enterprise it seems to me that, as I have said, there has been in the past plenty of tactics, but no strategy. That is inevitable so long as missionary work is carried on, as it is here in China, by some one hundred and thirty different organisations. Each mission is concerned, and rightly concerned, with its own field. It is nobody's business to look at the whole or to think about the relation of the different parts to the whole. The resulting loss is enormous, as it would be in war.

"If I may put in a sentence what seems to me the most important single issue which this conference has to face, and which the home boards have to face, it is whether you and they are content to go through the next few years, at a time when revolutionary changes are taking place in the conditions under which our work has to be done, without making definite and adequate provision for seeing that these larger questions are properly dealt with. I for one believe that if this is not done the cause of Christ will suffer irremediable less.

"Now I want to say quite frankly that in my judgment the getting of this strategic view of the whole is a very difficult thing. If it is a big and important thing you would expect it to be difficult. You may quite easily miss it. If you want to get it you must be quite sure what you want, and you must be quite determined about getting that thing.

"In the first place you need not expect to get it unless you set aside certain men and women to help in getting it, and unless these men and women are the right men and women for this particular task.

"Secondly, you will not get it if you allow the men and women who are set apart for this task to be entangled in the details of organisation, or in the vast machinery of committees, or if a body like the proposed National Christian Council embarks on a wide range of practical activities. There are no doubt a large number of things that are waiting to be done in the mission field, and that nobody is doing. If because of the urgency of these tasks a body like the National Christian Council takes them in hand, it simply becomes a new missionary society, constituted for specific neglected tasks. Even if it has four or five secretaries, it remains simply another small missionary society. And because its energies are absorbed in these things it fails to do the thing for which it was constituted, which was not to add certain new activities to those which are already being carried on, but to vitalise the whole existing Christian movement by providing it with what it at present lacks, the view of the whole.

"When I was in India I found considerable doubt and misgiving about appointing any group of men and women to this position of national Christian leadership. There was a quite natural fear that they might come to usurp authority, that they would tend to become directors or superintendents or bishops, and that job would be to come round to tell other people what they ought to do. Now I admit that there is a risk of that kind of thing and that if it were to be the result it would be intolerable.

"But the answer which I would give to that particular difficulty would be this. First, if you do not definitely lay this responsibility of helping to get this view of the whole on the shoulders of certain people, you will never get it. That seems to me a self-evident proposition. You won't get a college by talking about it. You have to put men there to make the college. And you won't get this view of the whole by talking about it. You will get it only if the strength and devotion and time and brain of men and women are put into getting it.

"And secondly, I do not think that what is feared is a really serious danger provided you are careful at the start to appoint to the office men who understand the genius and character of the work they are called to do. For if the men possess this quality they will realise clearly two things. The first is that the people whom they are going to serve will not stand being dictated to. If they attempt to impose their ideas, people will resent it. And since, in the kind of co-operation we are talking about, there is nothing whatever to hold people together unless they want to stay together, the whole movement of co-operation will simply break up if the constituent elements are repelled by the action of those who are leading it. Therefore if your officers have any insight at all they will see that the method of dictation or imposition must inevitably destroy the work they are trying to do. But there is a further and more important safe guard. If the officers appointed understand the true nature of the work intrusted to them, the last thing they will want to do will be to impose their ideas on other people. For there is no reason why their ideas should be better or truer than those of other people. And even if they were, to impose them would be, as we saw a few minutes ago in our illustration of the group, not success but failure. Choose men who will see that their business is not to carry out the plans that they want but the plans that you want, and that what they have been appointed to do is to make you want things not with that limited knowledge and limited self which is all you have so long as you are left in isolation, but with that larger knowledge and larger self which become possible for you when through the work of these officers you are able to take a wider view of the facts and to have your thought enriched by contact with other minds.

"My last word will be very brief. If those are the things at which the National Christian Council aims then to form it is to embark on a great spiritual adventure. It is an adventure that may fail. If it remains in the region of organisation it will certainly fail. At the level of organisation the thing is impossible. The difficulties are too great. The demands made on us too exacting. It demands from the churches and missions a high degree of openmindedness, of patience, of tolerance, of statesmanship, of love of truth, of the spirit of fellowship. Are these things there? It requires in the men who have to lead the movement in exceptional degree breadth of view, width of sympathy, capacity for self-effacement, and ability to inspire general confidence. Can these be found in sufficient measure? Who can say? But while the issue of the adventure must remain uncertain, it is an adventure supremely worth making. The National Christian Council, if it makes this adventure, will have nothing to depend on except the love of truth and the strength of the spirit of fellowship. But after all is there anything better in the world to trust to? Our Lord Himself, in a supreme act of trust, made His whole cause depend on the capacity of men and women, notwithstanding all their frailty and blindness, to rise to these heights.

"My last word then is this. The adventure can succeed only if it is made and carried through in the spirit of prayer and of complete dependence on God. I do not say this as a pious platitude. I say it because I am profoundly convinced that the adventure to which we are called is one which makes such high demands upon us that we can meet those demands only if we call to our aid that deeper insight and wisdom and those larger powers which are hidden in God, and which become available for us only as we seek them in prayer as a gift from Him."

FLAT
FLAT WALL FINISH

A perfect Paint of smooth surface for Interior Wall Coating

The surface obtainable with this paint is smooth and flat, i.e., it is not a grainy, dead, lifeless finish, but of a velvety texture. It dries in a reasonably quick time, so that work can be carried out effectively, yet has the property of remaining open long enough to enable the worker to cover a large surface of wall without making laps or edges.

Excellent results with Super Durable Flat Finish are easily obtained, irrespective of the skill of the user, and an elaborate preparation of the surface is usually quite unnecessary.

Super Durable Flat Finish has been tried on non-absorbent surfaces of all kinds and where distemper and oil paint have proved prone to shell or flake off, it has always adhered. It gives a lasting finish of surprising beauty.

Taiping Rubber Estates Meeting

The sixth ordinary general meeting of the Taiping Rubber Estates, Limited, was held yesterday afternoon at the offices of the agents, Messrs. Hopkins, Dunn and Company, Limited, 2 Kiangse Road.

Addressing the shareholders on the year's work, the chairman said:

"Gentlemen, The report and accounts were posted to you on the 26th ultimo, and I will, with your permission take them as read.

"In January of last year rubber fell to such a low value that if we had continued to produce it, we should have lost in the vicinity of S. $2,000.00. per month. Our agent in the F.M.S., Mr. Webster, estimated that the estate could be carried on without producing, at a cost (at that end) of S.$1,300.00 per month and recommended that this policy be adopted. The Board agreed and tapping ceased on the 31st January.

"When in October last the price seemed to have recovered, instructions were given to restart tapping, but owing to the difficulty of obtaining sufficient labor, the output for November and December only amounted to 22,739 lbs. the estimated value of which was Tls. 4,494.67; added to the amount realised for the rubber harvested in January makes a total for the year of Tls. 7,055.59.

"This will explain the loss on the year which amounted to Tls. 10,116.93 being the balance of Tls. 3,587.07 brought forward from 1920 and the balance Dr. at profit and loss account Tls. 6,529.86 on 31st December as shown in the accounts.

"There was of course no means of working out the all-in-cost of what rubber was produced, but our estate manager has up to the present on this year's working kept his all-in-cost at about 25 cents straits currency, which does not include Shanghai expenditure.

"There is, I think, little for me to say with regard to the accounts with the exception perhaps of the item 'Sundry Creditors at Shanghai.' This item includes directors and auditors' fees, agency fees, and advances made to the estate by the agents, Mssrs. Hopkins, Dunn and Co., Ltd. The Directors reduced their fees for the year by Tls. 650.00 and the local agents, theirs, by Tls. 1,200. The latter have reduced their fee for the current year to Tls. 1,200 being a reduction on their agreement of Tls. 2,400 per annum.

"It hardly comes within the province of this meeting to discuss the present year but I might say that, in an effort to preserve the trees, and work economically the Board have adopted the alternate-day system of tapping—if it does not prove as economical as anticipated, the decision will be reconsidered, as I am of opinion that the system best adapted to the present is that which will keep the company from getting deeper into debt.

"We continue to hear of various schemes for the betterment of the industry, but up to the present none of them have materialised, and though some people fancy they can see a rift in the clouds, I personally cannot, though I sincerely hope for our mutual benefit that conditions may improve as time goes on.

"This, gentlemen, is all I have to say but if any shareholders have any questions to ask I shall be pleased to answer to the best of my ability."

Repah Estates Meeting

The ninth annual general meeting of the Repah Rubber and Tapioca Estates, Limited, was held yesterday afternoon at the offices of the Secretaries and general managers, Messrs. Hopkins, Dunn and Company, Limited.

The chairman's speech follows:

"Gentlemen: The report and accounts were posted to shareholders on the 26th ultimo and I will, with your permission, take them as read.

"At the last annual general meeting I informed you that tapping had been suspended at the end of January, owing to the low value of rubber. In October last, when prices appeared to be recovering, it was decided to resume production, but unfortunately there was no strength in the market, and we are now faced with conditions similar to those obtaining at the beginning of last year.

"Turning to the accounts, it was decided when making them up to discontinue revenue and development proportions, and debit all charges to working account. I think you will agree that this is a better and clearer method of showing the exact financial standing of the Company.

"The debit balance at profit and loss account stands at Tls. 39,401.02, being the debtor balance of revenue account from 1920; Tls. 4,444.02 transferred to profit and loss account, and the loss on the year under review of Tls. 34,957.00.

"The average cost of keeping up the Estate during the non-producing period was approximately S. $3,000 per month.

"The directors reduced their fees by Tls. 1,200 and the secretaries and general managers, theirs, by Tls. 1,200.

"The item of interest, Tls. 3,662.86 represents 8 percent p. a. on the overdraft with the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, secured by Mr. E. S. Kadoorie's guarantee, and 5 percent on the amount owing to Messrs. Hopkins, Dunn and Co., Ltd. As security for the advances made by the latter, the Board have given them debenture mortgages on the estate property, totalling Tls. 60,000, which amount is at date fully advanced.

"These debentures expired on March 31, April 1 and 13, 1922, and have been renewed for a further six months pending the return of Mr. E. S. Kadoorie to Shanghai; in the meantime this gentleman is advancing sufficient funds to meet the monthly shortage, and on his return some scheme must be formulated to raise the funds, which I fear will still be necessary to carry on the Estate.

"The position at the year's end was that the Company owed Tls. 86,756.84 and had liquid assets amounting to Tls. 4,439.03 or a deficit of some Tls. 82,000, which has been further increased during the first quarter of the current year by some Tls. 6,000.

"I think, gentlemen, this will make perfectly clear to you the exact position we now occupy, and though there are optimists who profess to see improvement ahead of the industry, personally, I can only see huge surplus stocks of rubber being continuously added to by over-production, thereby preventing any possible rise in value, indeed, with a much greater probability of sending it even to a lower level.

"I should like to add that we have just received a telegram from Messrs. Barker and Co. stating the April crop amounted to 19,381 lbs. the estimatd all-in-cost at their end being 24 cents Straits currency per lb. To this has to be added the Shanghai expenses, chiefly interest on loans, amounting to approximately six cents per lb., so that to cover all charges on the Estate our sales must average 30 Straits cents per lb. which figure will however with increased output be proportionately reduced."

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used for years in children's complaints and I have found nothing better."
JOHN J. LEFFA, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.

"I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."
A. F. PEELER, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"For several years I recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., New York City.

"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, harmless effect and freedom from harm."
EDWARD PARDEE, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies."
VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a safe and reliable medicine for infants and children, in fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Government Urges Japanese Banks To Loosen Restrictions

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Tokio, April 27.—Interviewed by press representatives Premier Viscount Takahashi said the recent slump in shares disturbed economic circles as never before but the Government regrets it has no special means of improving the situation. The Government has warned the Bank of Japan and other banks to refrain from abnormal restriction of advances.

The firm tone of the money market is due to the nervous policy of bankers since the failure of a certain Osaka speculator. The best remedy is co-operation by the bankers to facilitate circulation.

Tht Government has no intention of acting on the application from a certain section of business men to redeem State Bonds to the amount of Y. 100,000,000.

Educators Urge Concentration Of Work In China

Report Of Commission Makes Many Recommendations

(China Press Correspondence)

Changsha, April 28.—The report of the Educational Commission consisting of prominent educationalists from Britain and America with whom there were associated a number of strong Chinese educators is now being published.

It contains recommendations for all the varied lines of educational work in China; and lays special stress on the need for definitely limiting the number of colleges and universities that can be sustained with funds from mission boards abroad.

The recommendation for central China was that the several Christian institutions of higher learning should come together to form one strong Christian University. The suggestion is quite radical, for it involves moving the College of Yale in China from Changsha to the Wuhan center; and also bringing to that center Lakeside College from Yochow City in Hunan. In addition, it would involve the placing of Boone University in Wuchang, of Wesley College in Wuchang and of Griffith John College in Hankow in physical adjacency.

A preliminary conference met in Hankow in February to discuss these several possibilities; and a second meeting has just ended, being held in Hankow on April 24 and 25. Duly accredited representatives were present from these institutions and from the Union Theological School in Changsha and the Union Normal School in Wuchang. The most impressive thing in the conference was the evident determination of the entire group to do what was best for the forwarding of Christian higher education in China, cost what it might to any individual institution.

It was also made very clear that what was called for was not the obliteration of the work or individuality of any institution, but rather its inclusion in a still larger unity, which would, on the one hand, make possible the preservation of whatever essential contribution each separate educational unit had to make; but which would, on the other, enlarge the scope of each by bringing to it federated help, teaching resources, library facilities, etc., which no single unit could have by itself.

What is proposed is essentially this, that there shall be a central University campus or quadrangle, with lecture halls, laboratories, museum, library, and other central educational facilities; all of which shall be used by the several university professors and their associates, from whatever college they come. Adjoining the central University quadrangle there would be the constituent colleges, each with its dormitories, chapel, and individual collegiate life. There might be, for instance, an Episcopalian college, a Methodist College, a University College, such as that of Yale in China, and others. The teachers given from one or another college would teach in the faculty of arts or medicine or otherwise, as indicated by their training and their ability to satisfy the educational requirements of the University Senate.

Each College coming into such a plan, while it would possibly lose something of that distinctive flavor which it might retain in its present site, would gain greatly; both in the fellowship of other teaching units of university grade and in the saving of cost to itself coupled with greatly increased educational efficiency. Such an institution can only render the service to China that China needs by remaining a soundly Christian institution. At the same time, beyond requiring that its teachers be Christian, there would not be theological or other tests imposed that might limit intellectual freedom.

The vision of the possibilities that might be realised in such a University, with its colleges of arts, of medicine, and later on, of journalism, engineering, etc., is alluring. Many difficulties, financial and otherwise, require to be faced. If they can be removed, Christian higher education in central China is sure to gain greatly in strength.
